The secret to success is practising little and often. If you would like more ideas, please speak to your child's teacher.

I aspire to tell the time to the nearest 5 minutes.

Children need to be able to tell the time using a clock with hands.

This target can be broken down into several steps.

- I can tell the time to the nearest hour.
- I can tell the time to the nearest half hour.
- I can tell the time to the nearest quarter of an hour.
- I can tell the time to the nearest five minutes.

You could try some of these activities....

Talk about time - Discuss what time things happen. When does your child wake up? What time do they eat breakfast? Make sure that you have an analogue clock visible in your house or that your child wears a watch with hands.

Ask your child the time regularly – You could also give your child some responsibility for watching the clock:

“The cakes need to come out of the oven at quarter past four.”

“We need to leave the house at half past eight.”

Add labels to a clock at home - print off the labels on the next page and blu tack them around a clock to help with remembering the times.

Make a clock – print off the clock template attached to this sheet and make a clock to practise with. If you need a split pin to allow the hands to move, please ask your child's teacher.
